

Study program: Bachelor Academic Studies: Business Economics , module 2: Business Economics and Entrepreneurship
Subject name: Final thesis
Teachers: Mentor and Commission
Number of ESPB: 2
Requirement: Passed all exams stipulated in the study program
Objectives of the final thesis: The goal of writing and defending a final thesis is for the student to demonstrate that he or she possesses a satisfactory ability to apply theoretical and practical knowledge in the field of business economics and entrepreneurship. By writing and defending a final thesis, students who have completed their studies should be able to solve real-world problems, as well as to continue their studies if they so choose.
Expected outcomes: Students are trained to recognize, formulate and analyze problems in the field of business economics and entrepreneurship, which implies that the student develops an analytical and creative approach to solving theoretical and practical problems. Students are trained to solve specific problems individually and in teams in the fields of economics, marketing, entrepreneurship, business planning, management of small and medium-sized enterprises, management of production and service processes, etc. Graduates of this level of study possess the competencies to apply knowledge in the practice of manufacturing, service and trade companies.
General contents: The final thesis represents a student's research work in which he/she becomes familiar with the research methodology in the field of entrepreneurship and business economics. After completing the research, the student prepares a final thesis in a form that contains the following chapters: introduction, theoretical part, (practical part), conclusion, literature review. After completing the work, students are able to apply the acquired knowledge in the practice of various companies and financial institutions.
Execution methods: The final thesis is an independent work of the student, prepared in written form, with instructions and consultation with the mentor. The mentor for the preparation and defense of the final thesis formulates the topic with tasks for the preparation of the final thesis. The candidate, in consultation with the mentor and associate, works independently on the problem assigned to him. After the preparation of the thesis and the mentor's consent that the work has been successfully completed, the candidate defends the thesis before a commission consisting of three members.
Knowledge score (maximum number of points 100) The final theses and oral defense are evaluated by the Commission (mentor and two members) with a single grade.
